DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Mr. Dewdney Brutally Attacked.

OTTAWA 7.—Sir John made a formal announcement of the changes in the government since last session and Mr. Laurier rose to make some remarks. After graceful compliments to Messrs. Foster, Tupper and Haggart he opened fire on Mr. Dewdney, whose appointment he said called for the gravest censure. He had been called to the most important department, entrusted with exclusive sway over vast Territories where varying interests affecting Indians, Half-breeds and Whites were continually clashing. He was Lieutenant Governor of those Territories, a servant of the department of which he is now head. For what services has he been promoted. While Lieutenant Governor, the Half-breeds of the Saskatchewan petitioning the Government for the rights given their compatriots in Manitoba. The propriety, fairness and justice of the demand was admitted by the North-West Council yet were ignored and never listened to until the agitation became warmer and passed from the constitutional stage and broke into civil war. The responsibility for millions of money wasted, property destroyed, lives lost, men maimed and sorrows caused rested on the administration of its officers, and if one man more than another was responsible that man was Mr. Dewdney.

Laurier's speech, which was brief, brought forth round after round of applause from the Liberals. Mr. Dewdney was in his seat but only once considered it worth while to contradict a statement of Laurier's.

Sir John Macdonald vigorously defended Mr. Dewdney and the applause of the Conservatives.

The Indian.

OTTAWA 8.—A short session was held today. Hon. E. Dewdney laid on the table the annual report of the Indian Department and said there was cause for encouragement, as the returns indicate advancement towards a status which when attained will result in the amalgamation of the Indian element with the general population of the country.

Governor of the Northwest under the expenditure of civil government. Under the pensions there will be granted $7,000 on account of the rebellion payable to the police and Prince Albert police scouts, an increase of $2,500 over last year. The following are the appropriations for the Northwest public buildings:—Generally $5,000; Lt. Governor's residence $15,000; Calgary court house and jail $10,000; Offices for crown land and timber agents at Regina, Prince Albert and Edmonton $15,000; Court house lock up and police accommodation at Mooseomin, Wolsley, Maple Creek and Medicine Hat $7,000. Total $47,000. The appropriations for Northwest harbors and rivers is $4,600, bridge across Old Man's river $6,000, Battle river bridge $17,000, bridge over Belly river, Lethbridge $17,000, bridges between Calgary and Edmonton $2,000.

Mr. Davis asked the government for all memorials and addresses to the government by the Legislative Assembly of the Northwest, also for returns of all persons, constables and non-commissioned officers charged before Laurence Hermer since his appointment as commissioner, their names, length of service, pensions, record of conduct, nature and punishment of each offence and whether proceedings were summary or deliberate, and whether accused were or were not allowed to make defence.

Postmaster King, of Calgary, has gone to Montreal.

OTTAWA 12.—The bill of incorporation of the Alberta Railway & Coal Company, received its second reading and was referred to the railway committee.

Hon. John Haggart, Postmaster General in reply to a question said the Government did not intend to reduce the rate of postage to two cents.

Judge Muir introduced the subject, reading a resolution passed at the provincial synod in 1888 forbidding the elevation of elements, celebration of Holy Communion, mixing water in sacramental wine, use of wafers instead of bread and other things, and asked the Bishop to intervene. His Lordship said he considered the resolution of the provincial synod referred to not binding. The clergy promised to obey canons, but not resolutions. He had no power to stop the offences complained of and considered the existence of the defence association little short of insult. If they had grievances they could put the machinery of the church provided for such purposes in motion. He refused to interfere.

ON THE RANGE.

From all over the range country comes the good news that stock of all kinds is flourishing and cattle, horses and sheep are in better condition than they ever were at this season of the year before in the history of the Alberta ranching industry. This is due in some measure to the fact that the stock now on the ranges is better acclimated; but principally to the splendid weather of this winter. Coyotes and wolves have caused considerable mortality among the young stock in some herds, but apart from this there has been no loss. Not a single animal is reported to have fallen a victim to exposure or scant grazing and this notwithstanding the fact that there has been practically no hay fed. Such an insignificant amount of hay has been fed that very little will be required to be cut in the summer. Many ranchers report their cattle as fat, if not fatter than when the frost came, and the cows are healthy and strong, promising well for a good calf crop.

Altogether the outlook for the stock industry could not be brighter.

HALDIMAND.

As those conversant with the election dodges of the liberals in the past in Haldimand suppose, the recent election does not appear to have been the complete triumph for political purity, the grit papers would have us believe. One of the means resorted to by the Grits to carry Haldimand is thus told by the Hamilton Spectator: "If Mr. Mowat desires to know something about the 'main' in which his whiskey commission is used for office for partisan purposes, let him investigate the present 'dodge' in Haldimand. The screws are being applied to the whiskey sellers in 'Haldimand with all the force the commission can bring to bear, and the 'hotel people are given to understand that the way they vote on Wednesday will determine the question of license 'or no license on the first of May. The 'Grits are making a most determined effort to 'redeem' Haldimand from the 'condition of corruption' into which it 'has fallen, and this coercion by Mr. Mowat's whiskey commissioners is but a sample of the means employed by those 'pure-minded patriots to secure the 'glorious end.'"

AMERICAN AND IMPERIAL ARMY REMOVALS.

The Herald has for some time been urging horse breeders to make an effort to secure for Alberta the market for remounts for the British Army. The American papers have now come to see the importance of this market and they are urging American horse breeders to make an effort to capture this profitable market. The London correspondent of the New York Times thus explains the attractions of the army market:—"To recur once more to the question of American bred horses for the British cavalry, let us look at the precise state of things. There are to-day but 11,800 horses available for 18,300 non-commissioned officers and men in the British cavalry, and a cavalry without a horse is not a very useful being. But we have 6,500 of these anomalies. Then the proportion of horses sick is always greater than that of men sick; so we may take it that there are 8,000 British cavalrymen without horses to carry them. The deficit in the artillery is nearly as great, owing to the batteries only being horsed for the peace establishment of guns. Thus, whenever we are in a bit of trouble we shall want at least 10,000 horses from beyond the sea at, say, $250 a piece. Meanwhile we shall be glad to get decent horses at $200 each, rising four years. And those which for any reason are unfit for cavalry or artillery work would still be worth for the Army service Corps $175. Now, farmers on limestone lands across the Atlantic, don't all speak at once, but still let us hear from you."

Great Britain by sending out commission to enquire into the advantages of securing remounts in Canada, has shown that she would prefer to draw horses for her army from the Dominion. The report of the commission was scarcely satisfactory, our horses being scarcely up to the standard of size. If we are to secure this trade we must breed larger horses at once. A delay in this matter will simply mean that the American breeders will get the trade.

MILITIA FOR THE NORTHWEST.

It is to be hoped that some of the Northwest members in the House of Commons will take steps during the present session to impress upon the government the advisability of making provisions for the extension of the militia system to the Territories. If there is any part of the Dominion, where local militia corps are likely to be of service it is certainly here, where the advance of civilization is making a pressure felt by the Red man and his as restless kinsmen the Half-Breeds. At present both Indians and Half-breeds are quiet and peaceable, but in view of the history of settlement in the United States it would be absurd for any one to pretend that there is not a constant risk of a serious breach of the peace so long as any number of uncivilized Indians remain in the country. Certainly the country has excellent protection assured it in the Mounted Police force; but a thousand men well organized and efficient as are "The Riders of the Plains," is an insignificant force of men to maintain order in such a vast region as the Northwest. Ottawa despatches appear to indicate that an increase in strength of the mounted Police is under consideration. Could not the purpose of providing additional protection for the country be best accomplished by extending the militia system to the Territories? For what one hundred additional policemen could be added to the force and maintained, a militia force of a thousand men could be established in the Territories. The present strength of the police force should be ample to attend to the regular routine of duties and an increase could only be necessary in case of emergency. In such a contingency militia would be as available as the police and they would be an invaluable auxiliary force.

The old cry that the population of the country is too sparse to allow of the maintenance of militia no longer holds good. Calgary could undoubtedly maintain a corps of a hundred men, and probably of two hundred. Prince Albert, Edmonton, Macleod, Lethbridge, Medicine Hat, Moose Jaw, Battleford, Qu'Appelle, Regina and Moosemin should each be able to maintain a company and a good one.

There are qualified militia officers in Calgary ready and willing to set to work to organize a corps here, if the government will give the necessary permission and it is to be hoped that something will be done before the close of the session. It is to be hoped that Mr. Dewdney and Mr. Davis will ventilate the matter in parliament.

THE INSTITUTE.

It is most important that there should be a large attendance at the meeting to be held at the Calgary Institute this evening. The institution has now reached a critical point in its career, and to a great extent its future will depend upon the attendance at this evening's meeting, and the steps taken to place it upon a thoroughly sound basis and in the hands of an energetic and capable directorate. Those who have fostered the institution during the delicate period of incubation have performed the duties entrusted to them well, and they now hand a very promising fledgling over to the membership of the society. It would be difficult to criticize anything that has been done so far. There has apparently been no false move to start with. The institution is on a good basis, beyond a doubt. It has a good start but a start only. It is for the great body of the membership to decide how rapid, and how substantial the development shall be, and their decision must be given tonight. If the members turn out in force to tonight's meeting and give the institution the support it deserves and must have, and elect the right sort of officers, the institution cannot fail.

It is unnecessary to repeat, what the Herald has so often said as to the great necessity existing in Calgary for a public reading room and library, as a wholesome place of resort for the young men who form such a large proportion of our population. Nor is it necessary to refer again to the great value of such institutions from an educational and business point of view. These matters have been enlarged upon time and time again in these columns, and there is no one but must realize that such an institution must have a great effect morally and intellectually upon the community.

It is purely and simply the duty of every citizen, Calgary to do his utmost to assist those who are interesting themselves in this matter. The gentlemen who have so far done the work of establishing this institution belong to a class which will directly reap the least benefit from it, as they generally have libraries of their own and comfortable homes to spend their evenings in. It is the class which has neither of these comforts, which the institution is most likely to directly benefit, and it is to be hoped that this class will be well represented at tonight's meeting. This is certainly a case in which all classes should pull together, and we must do it.

LAURIER'S ATTACK ON DEWDNEY.

Mr. Laurier's bitter attack on Mr. Dewdney in the House of Commons may have the desired effect of satiating the revenge of the whole horde of vindictive politicians in the Eastern Provinces and of pleasing the misled Rielite faction in the Province of Quebec particularly. Nothing so tickles the fancy of that party in the Dominion's oldest province, which owing its existence to bigotry, is kept together by a spirit of revenge begotten of the ridiculous idea that Riel was a martyr to anti-French sentiment, than an attempt to place the responsibility for the sad events of '85 on the shoulders of any person other than the rebel and homicide, Riel. Mr. Laurier, as do all the other liberal leaders in the House of Commons, knows that to keep their bigotted following in Quebec in line, they have to periodically resurrect the Riel question, holding up the arch-rebel for adoration, and somebody else, no matter whom, for abhorrence. Mr. Laurier says in Mr. Dewdney's introduction to the house an opportunity to do at once a little bit of side play to the Rielites and at the same time please the great body of liberals by abusing an old official of the Government. Having realized this, the liberal leader did not scruple to make one of the meanest and least clever for attacks on a minister of the crown ever hurled across the floor of the house.

Mr. Dewdney will, however, have the consolation of knowing, as he must know full well, that Laurier's absurd attack, while gratifying the tastes of bilious partisans of the opposite party in the East, has roused in the Northwest, the country which knows him best, a spirit of lively indignation against his detractor. This little piece of characteristic grit meanness might result beneficially to the party Mr. Laurier leads in the Eastern Provinces, where Mr. Dewdney has been persistently misrepresented, but the grit leader could not have devised anything better calculated to give a serious set-back to the few liberals who are trying against desperate odds to establish a branch of the once great party in the Northwest.

Mr. Dewdney has the unanimous endorsement of the people of the Northwest, liberals as well as conservatives, and knowing his sterling qualities and devotion to the public interests, Northwest liberals resent this undeserved attack upon him, just as strongly as does the staunchest conservative.

It is just about time that Mr. Laurier, and other liberal leaders began to realize that Mr. Dewdney occupies his seat in the House of Commons as the accredited champion of the Northwest. There was no partisanship in his selection by the people of this country. Every paper in the Territories, liberal as strongly as conservative, insisted upon his admission to the cabinet. Our contemporary, the Tribune, a staunch liberal journal of the Globe school, was as decided in its demand that Mr. Dewdney should be admitted to the cabinet as any paper could be, and it is characteristic of the feeling of the Northwest liberal press on this subject that the Tribune promptly seized the occasion, to characterize in its yesterday's issue, Mr. Laurier's attack upon Mr. Dewdney as "Unjust and uncalculated."

Throughout the length and breadth of the Northwest, public meetings approved unhesitatingly and in unqualified language the administration of Mr. Dewdney as Governor, and demanded his admission to the cabinet. At a meeting in Calgary, the principal centre of trade and population in the country, one of the resolutions was moved by the gentleman who at the last general elections, contested Alberta on the straight liberal ticket, and the most enthusiastic speeches were those delivered by the leading liberal of the district. It is scarcely necessary to add that Eastern Assiniboia sent Mr. Dewdney to Ottawa without the useless formality of an election.

These are facts, and it is difficult to understand how Laurier and those with him can so persistently ignore them. If Mr. Dewdney's administration of the Northwest was so corrupt as Eastern liberals pretend, why is it that the people of the Northwest gave him him such a general endorsement as no other public man in Canada has ever had and that it is left for people thousands of miles away to criticize him? The people of the Northwest are just as clear sighted and certainly no less independent than the Eastern grits, and they are just as much interested in the welfare of this country. The real explanation is that the people of the Northwest are not professional fault finders and scandal mongers, while the Eastern Grits depend for their very existence on these unsavory occupations.

Whatever Mr. Laurier may say, and however much his prejudiced followers in the House of Commons may exercise themselves applauding him, the people of the Northwest know Mr. Dewdney and have seen the good results of his labors. They know that Laurier is actuated by a selfish brutal spirit rather than by ignorance, and they must recognize the fact that in acting as he did, he was placing the unanimous sentiment of the people of the Northwest at defiance. They will not forget it, either.

In the near future, when the balance of power shall be vested in this part of the Dominion, the remnant of the liberal party will probably realize the grave mistake the party leaders made in the past, in persistently ignoring Northwest sentiment.

In the meantime, this attack but strengthens Mr. Dewdney's hold upon the affections of the people he has done so much for.

SIR JOHN ON DEWDNEY.

The Premier's Speech in Defence of the Minister of the Interior.

The following, according to the Call's report, was Sir John's speech in reply to Laurier's attack upon Mr. Dewdney:—"Sir John arose amidst a burst of applause from the government benches. Laurier reminded him of the character in one of Dickens' novels. The character favored under the hallucination that the head of King Charles I was constantly floating in front of him. Dewdney is in many respects equal to Laurier, and in others respects could not be compared with the leader of the Opposition, who seems unable to forget the events on the Saskatchewan, and who expressed his sympathy with the half-breeds more warmly than usually. Dewdney was no more responsible for the outbreak than the leader of the Opposition. The half-breeds cannot be regarded as Indians. Practically they are whites with Indian manners and in consequence have probably added a little more bow and arrow in their strings. The half-breeds have claims, but Dewdney as Indian commissioner and Lieutenant-Governor had nothing to do with the matter, which was appointed to the land branch of the Interior department. Dewdney could not influence a single officer in the department, nor could he have a word as to the disposal of even a quarter section of land in the Northwest. His duties were defined and restricted by act of Parliament. Consequently he had nothing to do with the half-breed question. Who had? The Government of the day, Sir John as leader was willing to assume the responsibility if any existed. The attack on Dewdney is as ungenerous as it is unwarranted. Proceeding amidst cheers Sir John said no matter what sympathy Dewdney may have entertained for the half-breeds, it was out of his power to adjudicate upon the claims which came to him through the regular channels. The claims referred to were received by land agents who forwarded them to the head office at Winnipeg for transmission to the Federal Government. As to the responsibility for the outbreak the matter had been discussed ad nauseam in this House and the people had already decided regarding the Northwest troubles. The Government is willing to rest on the facts as laid before Parliament. Dewdney in 1885 had no control of the Government. If wrongs were done the Government of the day was wrong. Dewdney had no means then of influencing the Government. Laurier's attack is altogether undesired and hasty and a matter of regret. The Opposition leader did not act with his usual sense of justice. True enough the correspondence between the Lieutenant-Governor and the Government did not appear in the blue book. Nevertheless Dewdney had been in constant communication with him, but the correspondence owing to its confidential character, could not be made public. Dewdney freely expressed his views from time to time. If he obtained information it was promptly conveyed to the Government. Besides, the Government received reports from Indian inspectors and land agents. They were responsible opinions, and they spoke their opinions freely. Continuing, Sir John showed the eminent fitness of Mr. Dewdney from his present position. The Minister possesses a large acquaintance with the great west, and resided in British Columbia many years. Dewdney held a good reputation as a civil engineer, and previously enjoyed parliamentary experience at Ottawa. He received the appointment of Indian Commissioner because of his fitness and at the same time he knew the Indian tribes, Indian habits and knew the best means of dealing with them. After his lengthy experience in the west all chiefs, from Crowfoot down, held Dewdney in high regard. As Lieutenant-Governor, Dewdney was smothered in a veritable bed of roses. All kinds of compliments were paid him by those whose opinion was worth having. Tache, Grandin, Lacombe and other Catholic prelates were warm in their praises of his appointments as Minister of the Interior. Dewdney, they described, as the right man in the right place. Sir John, in conclusion, said he was actuated in making the selection as a result of the agitation in favor of representation, by a resident, of the district of Ontario."

ANOTHER INDICATION.

The C. P. R. Awakening to the Importance of Calgary.

The railway officials who spent a day in Calgary in the fore part of the week, visited the town again yesterday. They telegraphed from Banff that they would arrive here at 14:30 o'clock.

The first deputation that waited on them in Mr. Whyte's official car was one from the Calgary Agricultural Society. The deputation consisted of A. Rowe, President of the Society, J. Bannerman, J. New, S. Rae, H. Douglas, J. L. Bowen and W. F. Orr.

Mr. Rowe stated on behalf of the Society that they were anxious to have the C. P. R. run some of their immigrant excursion trains this season as far as Calgary and also to give an occasional return ticket excursion from the eastern provinces to this point. Mr. Rowe supported his request by substantial arguments. He pointed out that in the past, the true value of this country as a mixed farming country was unknown in the East and that the same facilities had not been given to intending settlers to reach this distant and examine for themselves, that had been extended to Manitoba and the eastern part of the Territories, thus prejudicing the interests of Alberta, which we know to be the best part of the Territories. He said that to pay full fare for so great a distance while other parts of the West could be visited at very small cost, effectually prevented most people of the east from coming to spy out this land.

Mr. Joseph Maw gave his experience at the time he accompanied the Calgary Agricultural exhibit to Toronto and London last fall. He said that very one he met was astonished to learn the facts about Alberta, and he was sure hundreds of good men would visit this district with a view of settling if a reasonable price was given them.

Mr. Samuel Rae, who had just returned from a trip to Ontario, supported the statements of the previous speakers. He said in addition that he had met many persons in the East who had fully made up their minds to emigrate somewhere, and from what they knew of Manitoba they would not go there, consequently they would go to the Western States, where low rates to immigrants was always available.

Mr. J. L. Bowen and others of the deputation spoke at length on the same etc.

Mr. Whyte and Mr. Kerr entered heartily into the subject of settlers' excursion trains and the desirability of making a change in the time of passenger trains at Calgary. They promised to give both subjects their earnest consideration, and that something should be done this season in reference to settlers' excursions. They hoped that by the time they got out the next time table, the Montreal board would be able to arrange for the west bound express to reach here in daylight. Mr. Whyte assured the deputation that the company were most anxious to make the change as soon as possible.

His Worship Mayor Marsh, W. F. Orr, chairman of public works, property and railways, and A. Grant chairman of Fire, Water and Light, also waited on General Supt. Whyte and General Freight and Passenger Agent Kerr, in the parlor of their private car Thursday, to lay before these gentlemen some important matters of interest to the town. The chairman of public works said there were two matters in particular that they wanted to discuss. First, the closing of the streets on the whole of section 16 and part of 15; and next the chances of arrangement being possible by which the C.P.R. would locate workshops here and make this a divisional point.

As to closing the streets on 16 the speaker said that the people who had purchased lots from the Government on that section had done so in the full expectation that there would be streets crossing the railway track where streets were shown to run north and south as per Government plan; but instead of that every place where a street was supposed to be, had been closed by the C. P. R.

They also asked if it was the intention of the company to close any more than Mc-

Tarish street on section 15. They also asked in view of the fact that it is often dangerous crossing Oiler and 8-arth Street on account of morning traffic: trains, what the company would think of having a couple of streets, say Drinkwater and Hamilton streets pass under the railway track.

In reply Mr. White said that in consequence of action taken by the Town Council in writing to the Government about the so called closing of streets on 16. The Government had written the C. P. R. on the subject and had sent them a map of section 16 as laid out by the Government, which map he had brought with him for the purpose of being able to discuss the situation with the facts before them. He pointed out that his company had secured by contract with the Government long before section 16 was laid out as a town plot, a strip of land 400 feet wide running through the section for railway purposes, and as could be seen by the map, the Government had made the plan accordingly and people had purchased lots by the same plan, so that there was no question about the company's right to keep it all closed against crossings if they wished. But they did not wish to do anything to inconvenience the people or retard the progress of the town. They had fenced in their line as a precaution to prevent accidents and when it could be shown any streets were actually needed across their line they would not liberally and in no spirit of hostility to the town in the matter, in fact that he was prepared now to recommend the opening of one street about the centre of the section. It was urged by the deputation that at least two streets should be opened.

In reply to this Mr. White said that the council might select two plans when they wanted streets opened and he would lay it before his board.

In reply to the Mayor, Mr. Whyte said the company would not close any more streets on section 15. In reference to making streets under the railway track, it would meet with his hearty approval if it was found that the track was high enough to permit of it being done. In reference to locating workshops here, the railway office admitted the particular suitability of Calgary for shops and the fact that the company could get a better class of men to work for them in shops situated in such a place as Calgary, where the schools, churches and in fact all the advantages of city life, than they could when the shops were in some mere way in the mountains or on the prairie where there was nothing but the shops. The only difficulty in the way of selecting Calgary at once was the fact that it was not a divisional point, and though the company had studied the matter considerably they had not yet been able to work out any plan that would suit the running of their trains and make Calgary the end of a division.

In reply to the question whether a grant by the town of 25 acres of land on the line of railway close to the town would have any weight in their decision, he said it certainly was an important matter to the company. He said further that no decision had yet been made about the shops, and that Calgary's claim for them would be carefully considered.

The mayor and Mr. Grant re-opened the often discussed question of day trains for Calgary. On this point Mr. Whyte said the company were most anxious to arrange the running of their trains through the mountains and the dining car service so that Calgary would be passed and the entrance to the mountains made by daylight, and he believed that before they issued their next time table, that at least the west bound train would arrive at Calgary in daylight.

Lessons of the Fire.

To the Editor of the Herald.

SIR,—As I happened to be near the scene of the fire very shortly after the outbreak, I was astonished to see a certain individual, whom the furniture was being removed, smashing the large windows in front, and on being challenged for doing so, made no reply but continued his work in the most reckless manner. As a natural consequence the sudden ingress of a volume of fresh air immediately fanned the flames, whereas had the windows been allowed to stand and the door been closed after the removal of the furniture, I am quite convinced that the chemical engine in the able hands of Mr. A. Grant and his assistants would have been as successful in extinguishing and confining the fire to the building where it originated, as they were on a recent similar occasion at the house lately occupied by Dr. Pate.

As there is now a regularly organized fire brigade with all the necessary appliances, I think it highly advisable that the council should pass a by-law prohibiting any individual from interfering in such cases, (beyond the removal of furniture) until the arrival of the brigade. Where all did so well, it would be invidious to mention names, but for the praiseworthy energetic action of the brigade and the Mounted Police, to whom the citizens again owe a deep debt of gratitude, the loss would undoubtedly have been much greater. Your invention of the above will oblige. A CITIZEN.

The Calgary Institute.

To the Editor of the Herald.

DEAR SIR,—The meeting in connection with the Calgary Institute held last week was, on the whole, encouraging to those who have tried hard to make the thing a success. Some of our more influential citizens, who had before stood aloof, attended and showed a warm interest in the welfare of the Institute. The roll of members now contains over one hundred names and after two months or so of rather uphill work, we can feel that the undertaking is launched and fairly under way. One class of the community, however, has hitherto been conspicuously absent from our public meetings, that which may be called the working class. There are in and around Calgary many "horny handed sons of toil," men with plenty of brains as well as muscle, whose means will not allow them to buy literature, and of these but few have come forward to join us. Then again many unmarried men living in shanties and boarding houses who, after the day's work in store or office, find the evenings hang heavily on their hands. It is to such as these the Institute is likely to prove most beneficial, and I would point out to them through the medium of your paper that at our public meeting to be held tomorrow evening, it is open to them, by becoming members, to take a full share in its management.

The members of the executive committee appointed provisionally at the first meeting have, as has been already announced, resigned in order that the members of the Institute may now appoint their own officers. Why should not we have a thoroughly representative meeting of our citizens tomorrow, and appoint a thoroughly representative executive? Why should not those classes to which I have referred, and for whom the Institute seems to offer special advantages, come forward in numbers and join us, and then as members, choose for themselves men able and willing to act upon the committee of management, men who may be trusted to attend to the duties they have undertaken? Or, if persons do not care to join at once as members, let them come and use our reading rooms which are open and free to the public. These are well warmed and lighted, they are now well supplied with newspapers, magazines and stationery, and books are coming in every day, so that we hope shortly to open the lending library for the use of members. The lover of the soothing weed need not leave his pipe at home, he is met by no "counterblast" as he crosses our threshold; his comfort has been in one sense of the word our first care, for the apartment which you enter from the street is the smoking room. The regulations provisionally made for keeping order are few and easily complied with, and none need feel himself a stranger, unwelcome, or ill at ease within our walls.

Signs have not been wanting lately that we in Calgary can all pull together and with a will, when it is for the public good. Let us do so in this matter, the start has been made. A united and vigorous effort put forth at once is wanted. Let us make it.

Yours faithfully,
A. W. F. COOPER.

TERRITORIAL.

Found Dead in his Shanty.

EDMONTON, 12.—A man named Haney, for some years past working a gold mine up the river, was found dead in his shanty by Thomas Henderson, his business partner. The door was locked and the body was in bed, cold and stiff as though dead some days. Haney was an old resident of this vicinity and had implicit faith in his gold mine and spent all his time working in it.

EDMONTON, 12.—Last Thursday a report like a cannon shot followed by a rumbling noise, apparently under ground was heard by many people in the town and surrounding country. At Stony Plain it was most audible. Some report a slight trembling of the earth. It came from the west and was probably a slight shock of earthquake.

Sensation at Regina.

REGINA, 6.—Considerable excitement was caused tonight when the fact became known that L. W. Herchner, commissioner of the Mounted Police, is charged with unlawfully importing liquor into the Territories. The charge is that Mr. Herchner brought in a thousand gallons of beer about the 30th of January without having a permit. The trial is fixed for the 20th at the court house in Regina. The plaintiff is one Paul, backed up by prominent citizens. Only a few days ago an hotel keeper imported a quantity of beer which arrived the day before the permit issued and it was ordered to be spilled by Herchner. The plaintiff's lawyer has ordered the customs officer here to make a seizure of the liquor.

That Regal Beer Seizure.

REGINA, 6.—Jamieson, customs officer here, has declined to act in the matter of the seizure of beer stored at the Northwest Mounted police barracks, as it is of Canadian manufacture and comes under the Department of Inland Revenue. T. C. Johnston, the plaintiff's lawyer, inspected the premises where the liquor was stored today but a seizure was not made as expected. It appears upon further enquiry that a permit was obtained for the beer in question, but not until some days after it had entered the Territories. The car which contained said liquor was seized at Broadview, by a police officer there and held until communication could be had with his superior officers at this point, who then succeeded in getting a permit for the same, as a caution beer. The case will be tried on the 20th inst. Commissioner Herchner, who is at present in Ottawa, has been summoned to appear on that date. Mr. Secord, M. L. A., has also been retained for the prosecution.

STOCK.

Heavy Purchase of Steers.

Montana and northern buyers are already on the range in New Mexico inspecting herds and making contracts for early summer delivery. Our steers are sought for because they are in good form, the breeding is well up, their health is always prime and permits them to be taken anywhere without the least danger to the cattle, and for the further satisfactory reason that the buyer has generally made a good profit in handling them—either as a speculation or in marketing them for the shambles.

There was closed a contract this week in Las Vegas whereby William E. Hawks, president of the Soda Springs Land & Cattle Company, of Soda Springs, Idaho, and the Plymouth Rock Cattle Company, of Red Rock, Montana, become the owners of all the steers owned by the El Capitan Cattle Company and the Lee Cattle Company of Lincoln County, from 2 year-olds and upwards, amounting to between 5,000 and 6,000 head. They are to be delivered at the railway by the middle of May. The prices paid are not stated, but are said to have been better than any steers have sold for on the range here in the past two years. —Las Vegas (N. M.) Stock Grower.

Cattle in New Mexico.

A correspondent of the Albuquerque Democrat, in writing about the condition of the range in the Manzanita country, east of Albuquerque, says: "But while this remarkable amount of snow holds promise of abundant crops for the farmer and plentiful grazing for the herds next summer, it does not seem to be an unmixed good when we learn of the suffering and death on the range at the present. The New Mexico land and cattle company, at Antelope Springs, found it necessary to throw open the gate, and in many places, cut the eighty miles of fence around their beautiful pastures, driving and dispersing the dazed herds to other grazing grounds. The expense of gathering and bringing back to the pastures will be large, an item which has been kept at the minimum by the present efficient management. A less solid company might be embarrassed by such a mishap. The D. L. S. Co., of Buffalo Springs, has probably suffered also to some extent, although its cattle, being unconfined, may have drifted before the storms to better protected ranges. Reports from other ranges are meagre, but the death loss among cattle, east of the manzanos, it is safe to say, will be larger than for many years past. And this fact would seem to again more forcibly emphasize the necessity for a change in the methods of cattle-raising by curtailment of herds to proportions where they can be sheltered and fed in seasons like this. The certainty of eliminating losses like this kind would surely counterbalance the expense, and possibly leave a handsome margin."

Horses on the Range.

Rocky Mountain Husbandman.

It is a well known fact to all acquainted with the habits of the horse on the range that he is not inclined to ramble in cold, stormy weather. On the other hand he will often not wander as much as a mile from where the snow overtakes him. Owing to this fact one can readily see the importance of getting his range horses into a favored locality before the heavy storms set in. Horses will not, as a rule, travel in snow; and if a grower who has no feed provided will take his herd to some nook in the mountains where food is good and water convenient, they will remain there and he can see after them every few days. Horses have always wintered well in this territory, and the fall of snow does not effect them seriously as long as it does not crust. Some seasons when the snow crusts badly, horses have considerable hard work to make a living, but the hardest winter we have ever known in the territory they have wintered without any great loss and horsemen have no serious apprehension for their herds, letting them roam at will; but we make these suggestions in regard to a little care: believing it will pay, for the better fix in which one's horses winter the better and larger will be the annual increase. It is certainly desirable to keep horses up and care for them just the same as other stock, but as there is not one herd in twenty that is thus provided for we make these suggestions as to the next best thing the horse owner can do.

THELEGRAPHIC.

FOREIGN.

Wolves in Montana.

HELENA, 11.—A gentleman who recently returned to Fort Benton, Mont., from a business trip to Fort Conrad in the northern part of the country, gives an alarming account of the ravages of wolves among the stock in that section. They no longer confine their depredations to calves, colts and yearlings, but now attack and destroy full grown fat and heavy steers. They go about in packs of a dozen or more and ranchmen are afraid to travel alone for fear of being attacked by them.

A Crime of the First Magnitude.

LONDON, 6.—The Pall Mall Gazette severely condemns the starting for the first time in London, under American auspices, of a daily newspaper to be issued on Sunday. It objects to it in the first instance on the ground of the ill effect it must have on the staff. While not Sabbatharian, the writer, who no doubt is Chief Editor Stead, declares the introduction of the practice to be a social crime of the first magnitude, and he appeals to all journals and journalists to set their faces against it at the very outset.

C. P. R. and G. T. R.

LONDON, 4.—The relations of the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk are still much discussed. The Canadian Pacific are expected to make a stern rejoinder to the Grand Trunk's protest to the government against further Government subsidies to competing lines. This petition is being largely signed by Grand Trunk holders. The Canadian Gazette today, while blaming the Grand Trunk for its past hostility, urges a further extension of the arrangements for exchange of traffic. Canadian Pacific circles expect that the past year's working will yield a surplus of $200,000 or $300,000 over interest charges.

Aid for the Pope.

ROME, 5.—Cardinal Gaubauer, Archbishop of Vienna, has sent an address to the Pope from the Austrian bishops proclaiming the right of the Pope to temporal power. Italian papers are of the opinion that the address would affect the present friendly relations between Austria and Italy but for the success of Boulanger, which brings war within view and makes Vatican discords less heard in Quirinal councils.

VIENNA, 5.—The Catholic movement in favor of the restoration of the temporal power of the Pope is extending. Meetings at Bruck, Salzburg, Innsbruck and other places have adopted resolutions condemning the restriction imposed by the Italian Government upon the Holy See. Catholics, the resolutions declare, must not rest until the supremacy of the church is recognized. No meeting has yet demanded action by the Government in defence of the Pope.

How Rudolph Died.

LONDON, 9.—The Daily News has the following special from Munich, dated Tuesday:—"The following are believed to be the circumstances under which the death of the Austrian Crown Prince took place. On the afternoon of Tuesday of last week, Baroness —, a beautiful young girl, not tall, rather dark, and of a lively disposition, arrived at Mererling and took up her quarters at the game keeper's house, not far from the castle. No one knew of her being there except the gamekeeper and his wife. At midnight, when the Crown Prince had bidden his guests good night, he went to see her, and had been with her about an hour when the forester, already equipped for the morning's hunt, went to the house to ask the gamekeeper for detailed instructions on some doubtful question. He knocked loudly at the door. A window opened and a man jumped out and ran away. The forester aimed and fired. The fugitive fell, and when the forester walked up to him he recognized the Crown Prince, who had fainted. The shot had gone into his shoulder. The forester called for help, and with another man carried him into the gamekeeper's house. The Baroness, taking him to bed, turned to her travelling bag, took something out of it, and before she had noticed, fell dead on the floor. Then the Crown Prince, came to and was taken by his own orders to the castle, where his valet began to ask anxious questions. The Crown Prince said impatiently 'I have fainted. My nose is bleeding. Go away. I wish to be alone.' The valet went out reluctantly and obeyed. The Crown Prince locked the door and committed suicide before a mirror. The Baroness was buried on Thursday in Helligenkraeg in a convent, where all her family were buried."

A. E. SHELTON.

Will Resume His Profession.

WASHINGTON, 3.—The following official statement from the executive mansion reached the United Press bureau this evening:—"President Cleveland will return to the State of New York to reside on the expiration of his term of office, and will on March 5th resume the practice of his profession in New York city having associated himself as counsel with the law firm of Bangs, Stetson, Tracy and MacVeagh."

Canada Retains Another Championship.

NEW YORK, 6.—The figure skating championship was skated this afternoon before a large audience at Van Courtland lake. The ice was in fair condition but a little dangerous, and in executing movements, the ice being thin would crack and the water came up through the holes. After a close competition Rubenstein won by 4 points, Phillips 2nd and Montgomery 3rd.

Mrs. John L. Sullivan.

PROVIDENCE, 2.—Mrs. John L. Sullivan, the legal wife of the prize fighter, after listening to the persuasive eloquence of Capt. Howland, of the Salvation Army battalion at Arctic, has become a convert, and the little town talks of nothing else. The fact became known at last Sunday morning's meeting, when Mrs. Sullivan was present and Capt. Howland exhorted. It had been whispered in Arctic that the couple had more in common than mere religious interests. Mrs. Sullivan manages a boarding house there, and rumor says the captain has been very diligent in his visits to the house. Last Sunday the presence of Mrs. Sullivan at the meeting created a sensation, and there was an exciting scene when Mary McLane an old sweetheart of the captain's, arose and denounced him in infornated language. The meeting was split up, one half led by Capt. Howland, with John L.'s wife in his wake, going to one end of the room; the other half, led by a deacon, occupying the other. Thus the services continued. After meeting it was announced that Mrs. Sullivan, the convert, would appear on the platform in the evening and exhort. This aroused the enemy, and a body of them, men and women, seized a rail and started up the highway toward Mrs. Sullivan's house, where the captain was at that time. It is not known whether the plan was to utilize the rail as a battering ram upon Mrs. Sullivan's front door, or whether it was for the purpose of riding the eloquent captain out of the town. The attacking party halted near the Methodist Church where the good folks urged them to respect the Sabbath and to seek for less vigorous methods of showing their dislike for the captain. Owing to the day's disturbance there was no evening meeting, and the keenly curious villagers did not enjoy the rare opportunity of hearing the wife of the prize fighter exhort. The opponents of Capt. Howland are trying to take the church away from him, but he shows them a clear legal title. Mrs. Sullivan will probably appear next Sunday. Her native place is near here and her maiden name was Ann Bailey.

THE INSTITUTE.

Molds an Important and Successful Meeting.

There was a good attendance, and of thoroughly representative citizens, at the meeting of the Calgary Institute last evening to elect new officers. In the unavoidable absence of Mr. A. E. Shelton, the president, Rev. J. C. Herdman took the chair. The meeting was most harmonious and characterized by enthusiasm. The following officers were elected:—President, A. E. Shelton; First Vice President, A. D. Braithwaite; 2nd do, Rev. J. C. Herdman; Secretary, E. J. Chambers; Treasurer, A. A. Davidson. Executive Committee:—T. B. Braden, Rev. A. W. F. Cooper, Rev. J. F. Betts, W. H. Hogg, Dr. Rouleau, The Lord Bishop of Calgary, J. Short, W. H. Cushing, Dr. Lafferty and A. J. Ellis.

There was considerable discussion as to the advisability of widening the scope of the Institute to embrace the giving of lectures, holding debates etc., and the matter commended to the attention of the Executive.

The Executive was also instructed to amend the constitution and by-laws as to place them upon a workable and permanent basis.

In the remarks of all the speakers there was a tone of marked confidence, and the success of the institution may be taken to be as good as assured.

STEPHEN AVENUE, CALGARY

THE WEEK'S LOCAL NEWS

Wednesday.

Mr. A. D. Rankin, of the firm of Rankin & Allan, went east by No. 2 express yesterday morning. He will spend some time in eastern cities, buying stock for the spring trade.

There were four parties brought up by constable Riddell charged with gambling on Sunday. The accused had a hearing before magistrate Murdoch yesterday at 10 a. m. The two principal offenders, owners of the place where the gambling was carried on, were fined $5 and costs each. The other two, being their first appearance in court, were admonished and let go.

Mr. Robert Kerr and Mr. D. E. Brown, the C. P. R. officials who spent yesterday investigating Calgary's railway business requirements, went west by No. 1 express early morning. In conversation with a HERALD reporter, these gentlemen said that Calgary would in the future receive attention from the C. P. R. corresponding to its growing commercial importance.

Thursday.

Miss Grace McDougall, of Morley, is in town stopping at Mr. Loughheed's.

Mr. Feehan, C. P. R. station agent, is somewhat better today, but not able to leave his room.

The orchestra of "E" Division N. W. M. P., has been engaged for the Bachelor Ball on the 14th.

Mr. Shirley Ogilvie, of the milling firm of Ogilvie & Co., arrived from the west this morning and is at the Royal Hotel.

At the residence of Dr. Rouleau last evening, the members of the choir of St. Mary's Church presented Mr. Sechen with a purse and testimonial as a token of their esteem.

General Supt. Whyte and general freight and passenger agent Carr, of the C. P. R., Winnipeg, arrived from the west today. They will go east by No. 2 express tomorrow morning.

The new wind pump at the fire hall has at last been got into operation, and goes off smoothly as could possibly be desired. This will put an end to the yearly and dangerous trips with the fire engine to the Bow river for filling tanks.

The postponed meeting of the Calgary Institute for the election of officers and transaction of general business is to be held at the Institute, corner of Osier Street and McIntyre Avenue this evening. Members and those desiring to become such are particularly requested to attend.

Messrs. Hall & Troncoe are commencing erecting a $15,000 block on the corner of Stephen Avenue and McTavish Street. When this building is put up it will fill about the last gap made by the great fire of November, 1886. The building is to have a front of 130 feet on McTavish Street and 50 feet on Stephen Avenue, with four stores on the former and two on the latter street, also a shop for their own meat and provision business on the corner.

Friday.

Some very good strings of trout have lately been caught out of the Bow.

The Executive Committee acknowledges with thanks donations of three dollars each from Messrs. S. Barber and A. C. Saunders to the Institute.

Saturday.

Mr. C. D. Beveridge, of the Rosebud Ranch, is in the city.

Mr. E. W. Brown, manager of the Mount Royal Ranch company, is registered at the Royal Hotel.

Mr. W. C. Wells, proprietor of the Pa'isier Mills, is stopping at the Royal Hotel.

Mr. D. G. Holt, editor of the Medicine Hat Times, arrived by No. 1 express this morning and is stopping at the Royal Hotel.

In the HERALD's report of the council proceedings on Wednesday night, where it stated that a petition was presented by Mr. Murdoch, it should read "on behalf of Mr. Murdoch."

The Lord Bishop of Calgary has left town on a visit to the district to the south. His Lordship will hold services at High River and Fish Creek tomorrow and return to town in the evening.

The stone work on the Alberta Hotel was finished this morning. The exterior presents a splendid appearance, and would be an ornament to a large city. It will take about three months to complete the interior. But from what a HERALD reporter saw of it this morning, it will be as perfect in its appointments as any hotel in Canada.

Chief of police Dillabough made an appeal to the charity of the town yesterday afternoon and collected the sum of $31 for the two women who lost all their clothing and furniture by the late fire. He divided the money between them. Mrs. Chapman, one of the sufferers, left with her little children this morning to join her husband at Vancouver.

Mr. P. A. Prince has asked us to correct an error in our report of the interview with him on the mill question a couple of days ago. We stated that Mr. Prince was going to erect a planing mill, sash and door factory. He only intends putting in a planing mill, as he considers that Mr. Cushing's factory has sufficient capacity for the present requirements of the town.

The new wind pump and well at the Fire Hall is proving a perfect success. Since it was completed there has been but very little wind to test it; but at one time there was a light continuous breeze for five hours, during which time it pumped 15,000 gallons. There are now five water tanks full and they can be kept full with almost no expense. If the tanks not now used at the Hudson Bay Co's corner and John Clarke's corner were put in order and two new tanks put in, one on each of the railway and one on 16, the fire brigade could defy fire so far as the water supply is concerned.

Monday

Mr. R. C. Kenway, C. E., went to Vancouver by yesterday morning's train.

N. D. Beck leaves shortly for Calgary, where he will form a law partnership with a barrister of that town.—Morning Call.

A baseball meeting will be held on Wednesday evening at eight o'clock for the election of officers etc., for 1889, in the reading room of the Palace Hotel.

Mr. Feehan, station master for the C. P. R. at Calgary, who has been very ill for over a week is reported recovering very fast.

Is spring here, is the question asked by everyone. The goshaws are out in force, which is looked upon as an indication that spring is upon us.

The members of the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, to discuss the proposition for the construction of a parsonage hall.

The communicants of the congregation of the Church of the Redeemer meet after the evening service next Sunday to elect delegates to the diocesan synod to be held shortly.

A heavy gale of wind yesterday afternoon made the dust fly and brought a slight shower of rain. The same old snow-bow was on hand again first thing this morning.

Mr. A. Grant went east by No. 2 express yesterday morning to purchase a stock of hardware for the spring trade.

Mr. J. G. Fitzgerald returned from his trip to the east by No. 1 express this morning.

Tuesday.

CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION. Messrs. Pettit & Ellis have been appointed local and district agents for this company. 25-111.

The committee in charge of the Bachelor's "At Home" has already begun the work of decorating the Opera House, and the interior already presents a handsome appearance. A dozen extra electric lights will be placed in the hall for the night. A couple of cozy card rooms are being fitted up for those who do not care to dance.

Mr. Mollison, manager of the Lister Kaye estate, informs us that Sir John has taken an important step for the improvement of the breed of horses on his farms. Some short time ago he imported eleven fine three year old Clydesdale stallions, which have been kept since their arrival in the west at the Balgonie farms, having now erected good stables on the other farms, they are sending one of these horses to each of his eleven farms, the farthest west of which is about 20 miles east of Calgary.

In the HERALD's local column of yesterday we noted from the Winnipeg Call that Mr. N. D. Beck, of Winnipeg, was about to form a partnership with a local firm here. We now ascertain that Mr. Beck is joining the firm of Loughheed & McCarthy, and that after the 1st March next the firm will be known as Loughheed, McCarthy & Beck. Mr. Beck is a member of the Ontario bar and formerly practised law in Peterboro. He came to Winnipeg in 1883 where he has since been in practice.

Mr. James Walsh, the veteran fur buyer of Winnipeg, has just returned to Calgary from a trip to Edmonton and the far north. He reports the fur crop in the whole country as being very small and the fur light. This he attributes chiefly to the mildness of the season and absence of snow. There being no snow the larger animals have no trouble in finding mice, rabbits &c., to live on and will not take bait. Then when there is no snow trappers have more difficulty in tracing up the Otter and Beaver houses or tracking the bears and wolves to their dens. It is a well understood fact that in mild winters, fur bearing animals never put on as heavy a coat as in cold seasons. Fine furs have advanced in price considerably in the London market during the last few months.

CALGARY'S NEW INDUSTRIES.

Flouring and Planing Mill.

His worship the mayor and the committee on public works had an interview yesterday with Mr. P. A. Prince, manager of the Eau Claire & Bow River Lumber Co., in reference to their proposal to erect a flouring mill in Calgary.

Mr. Prince stated that a few stockholders of his company objected to the scheme when he laid it before them at Eau Claire, Wisconsin, recently; but about 80 per cent of the stock was in favor of the undertaking, and that the persons representing that 80 per cent would form a new company to be called the Calgary Water Power Co., and that this new company would go on with the mills if they obtained the right to erect a 4 foot dam on the Bow River and were granted the land they asked for, without which the work could not go on. Mr. Prince told the mayor and councillors what had passed between himself and the Hon. E. Dewdney at Ottawa. The mayor promised that the matter should have the earnest attention of the council. Mr. Prince stated that when in Toronto he had purchased the machinery for a large planing mill and sash and door factory, which would be shipped from that city about the first of April, and would be put in working order at Calgary the coming spring, whether the flouring mill went on or not.
